This week we consider:

What I've learned from Books

Facebook pictures of the week:

Congratulations to Lower Five students, Anni, Lucie, Maya and Annaleigh, who delivered performances at 'Herstory Fest' this weekend, based on their research of two former Ladies' College students: Violetta Thurstan and Marie Randall.

Violetta was a pioneering nurse who pushed for the further professionalisation of nursing and was decorated by three nations for her work and bravery during the First World War.

Marie Randall broke the gender bar when she became the first woman to be elected as a People's Deputy in 1924 and was the only female member of the States of Guernsey for 24 of her 30 years there.

Their performances were done in character and in costumes for a fully immersive experience, before answering questions on their research journey.

We were delighted that current students could tell the stories of our alumna in an engaging way as part of the celebration of Notable Women of Guernsey, which is currently on display in the museum.
