This week we consider:

Being the Difference

Facebook pictures of the week:

Our Lower Five students recently participated in an initiative to create a pollinator patch at Government House.

The girls carried out their own research and collaborated with experts, including Dr Miranda Bane from the Pollinator Project. After collecting native flower seeds from the library seed bank and growing them in our biology lab, Year 5 students from Vauvert School were invited to help plant these seeds and flower plugs, some of which, Sharon Hickman kindly provided from the Pollinator Project.

The Vauvert pupils will return to Government House in September, with the support of our Lower Five students (who will then be in Upper Five), to witness the full bloom of the patch and conduct a FIT count to assess pollinator activity. This data will be invaluable for their studies, and they will use it to create charts and graphs in their lessons.

The project has been captured in a scientific poster, set to be presented at the student research conference in Exeter next month. We are so proud of their dedication and environmental attitude and grateful to Dr Marshall for leading this fantastic initiative.
